Loutraki

Welcome to the revival of Nemean Games

The Nemean Games (Greek: Νέμεα or Νέμεια) were one of the four Panhellenic Games of Ancient Greece and were held at Nemea every two years.

With the Isthmian Games, the Nemean Games were held both the year before and the year after the Ancient Olympic Games and the Pythian Games in the third year of the Olympiad cycle. Like the Olympic Games, they were held in honour of Zeus. They were said to have been founded by Heracles after he defeated the Nemean Lion; another myth said that they originated as the funeral games of a child named Opheltes. However, they are known to have existed only since the 6th century BC (from 573 BC, or earlier). The winners received a wreath of wild celery leaves from the city of Argos.

The Society for the Revival of the Nemean Games (which now has more than 1000 members from around the world) was founded in the belief that there is today scope and perhaps even the need for the average person — regardless of ethnicity, language, religion, gender, age, or athletic ability — to participate in an international athletic festival. And so it happened in 1996, 2000, 2004, 2008, 2012 and 2016. More than 4800 people from 120 different countries, ranging in age from 6 to 96, have added their footprints to those of ages long gone.

Loutraki

The ideal destination for Nemean Games participants.

The combination of the suitable climatic conditions and the rare natural environment of Loutraki, creates a haven that provides limitless opportunities for summer and winter breaks. The temperate, mediterranean climate, the crystal – clear blue sea, the amazingly beautiful beaches surrounding the city and the rich pine forest of the Geraneia mountains that extend in the landscape, constitute a majestic scenery of beauty.

Idyllic locations, unique attractions, extreme adventures, incomparable venues and fun activities.

Loutraki is also famous from the depths of centuries for the hot springs and high-water quality. Loutraki's thermal water has been established as a symbol of natural hygiene, well-being, and revitalization of body and spirit. For this reason, it has been called "The Water of Life".

The location is one of its most important assets. It is located next to Athens' capital and many important sights, picturesque islands and traditional villages are within a short distance.
